The screenshot displays the Peking University Library website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for '简体中文', 'Today's Hours: 6:30 - 22:30', 'Donate', 'Ask Us', 'My Library', and 'Old Version'. Below this, the main header features the library's name in Chinese and English, along with a search bar. A red sidebar menu on the left lists 'Discovery', 'Catalogs', 'Databases', 'E-Journals', and 'Site Search'. The main content area is titled 'Discovery' and includes a search bar with the placeholder text 'Explore books, journals, papers...'. Below the search bar, there are links for 'Don't know where to start? Summon Discovery User Guide', 'New Resources', and 'New Books'. The background of the website features a large image of the library's interior with a banner that reads '1898 燕飞万里·书寄相思' (1898 Yanfei Wanli · Shu Ji Xiangsi). Below the banner, there is a section titled 'Next: 灵气所钟' (Next: Lingqi Suozhong) with a right arrow. At the bottom, there is a row of icons representing various library services: Locations, Borrow Renewal Holds, Recommended Reading, New Books, Purchase Request, ETDs Submission, Library Orientation, Library Workshops, Research Tools, Print Copy Scan, Exhibitions Online, and Deliver To Door.

Large Equipment Procurement

1. Ultra large format / ultra high resolution digital scanning system

Mainly used for ultra-high precision digital scanning on different kinds of large-format original manuscript collections from libraries, archives, museums, and certain departments, for instance, stone rubbings, Shuen papers, maps, engineering drawings, large-scale images, et al. Expected to be a set of versatile and high-quality digital replication system.

2. Non-contact high definition book/periodical scanner

The required large equipment aims to provide non-contact protective digitalization scanning process for precious but fragile book/periodical collections in the library (e.g. ancient books, old periodicals before liberation). Expected principle characters include high precision, rapid speed, and harmless to original collections.

This book addresses the life and work of Russian writer and playwright Anton Chekhov from a contemporary and global perspective. While Chekhov occupies center stage, the volume also draws upon the social reality of Europe, as well as Russian history from the 19th century to the present day. The narrative even incorporates elements linked to contemporary Japan. This work also brings more than a few discoveries to light, both in Chekhov's life and in his writings. Methodologically, it represents a flawless fusion of the empirical philological tradition and the world literary orientation at the heart of contemporary literary studies. Originally serialized in Gunzō, Kōdansha's monthly literary journal, this book is written in a style that general readers will find highly approachable. At the same time, it makes full use of an expansive collection of Russian and European language source materials, many of which are hard to find today. In this sense, this volume is also a rigorous academic work, complete with a detailed index and bibliography.

Make your students become information literate

with the

Library Literacy Services!!

Waseda University Library has been contributing to improve students' information literacy by holding several workshops & courses (ex. explaining the usage of the library facilities, how to find materials, how to use databases, etc) and providing self-taught materials (ex. guides for finding materials, movie contents, etc).

By making full use of those contents, your students will be able to get the most benefit of the materials which Waseda University Library provides, and surely become information literate !!

Why don't you introduce the library literacy in your classes?

As an introductory education • • •

Before assigning essays to students • • •

When students start to write graduation theses • • •

1. Literacy Course in Classes

You can introduce some integrated courses on learning how to search materials and the usage of the useful tools and databases in your classes. Contents of the courses can be customized upon your request. Generally, we ask you to prepare the PC rooms to hold the course, but the consultations are available for the holding date / place.

Central Library Self-Guided Tour Usage of WINE

Finding Journal Articles / Newspaper Articles

Citation Management Tool (RefWorks) ILL Services

Finding Legal / Corporate / Finance Information

etc (upon your request)

[Deadline of the application]
Standard deadline for the application would be 1 months before the preferred holding date.

2. Self-taught materials

We provide self-taught materials for students to make the full use of the materials in the library.

ex. Library self-guided tour, a series of guides for finding materials (on material type, on each subject)

They are intended to be introduced in the classes or used as a supplement for the assignments.

Please get the most benefit of these materials.

Consultations and inquiries about the usage in the classes are welcome.

3. Library Workshop

We support student by preparing various workshops which meet each students' achievement level; such as from basic workshop (ex. finding books, how to read reference, etc) to advanced / proficient workshop (ex. finding legal information, using citation management tools, etc).

These workshops would be useful as students' supplementary lessons and also they can be set as a required session for the students, for we provide the certificate of the attendance.

*The detail and the holding date of the Library Workshop will be announced in the Library HP, etc.
